Desktop How to download your favorite songs on the desktop Download the entire catalog of your favorite songs on a computer could not be simpler: Just open the Spotify's favorite tracks section (using the Spotify application for MacOS or Windows) and press the button Download. Fortunately, Spotify has a way to download your favorite tracks so you can enjoy them every time you want. The playlist will start downloading, but keep in mind that you may take some time depending on the size of the playlist and the speed of your internet connection. Step 3: You will see a download icon next to each episode, which allows you to choose which episode you want to download. Annota: if you are looking for a faster process, you can also click on the three horizontal (or vertical) points positioned next to Each episode. (If you do not, the download option will remain hidden.) Step 2: Á, then, activate the download scroller in the upper right corner of any playlist. If you try to do it without luck, you can turn around and disable offline listening on of other devices. Traces will begin to download. Content content Before becoming too excited, you need first of all a couple of things: a device to store songs, an Internet connection and a Spotify premium subscription. It simply doesn't work if you try to download more. If you have an Android, see three vertical points. Click these points and is direct to the information menu.
